“ So many great memories of this wonderful human but the ones that stand out more to me is sitting on the couch talking to him late at night. When the house is quiet and everyone has gone to bed, that is when I really got to see how much he loved all of us. He worried about everyone because he knew how important we were to Mama. The undeniable love he had for her carried over to all of us. We love you with all of our hearts. You are in a much better place now. We will meet again soon Dad.
