“ I remember sitting in the yard with Dad one day cutting rope because he was putting new rope on the rope truck for pulling wire. I was cutting upwards towards myself (big no no) when the last strand finally cut through and the knife hit me in the head beside my eye. It didn't really hurt so I went back to cutting then all of a sudden blood started pouring in my lap. Dad looked up about the same time and hollered good God girl what did you do. Then he picked me up and ran in the house with me and doctored me up. My dad and my protector growing up. I remember going on motorcycle rides with him when I was a little girl. I would always be sound asleep on the gas tank in front of him by the time we got back home. I will always love and miss him. I hope to see you again one day Dad. God bless you
